Report of the

For the Year Ending March 6, 1914

W. LESLIE GOODWIN, Chairman,

Superintending School Committee.

ERNEST G. KNIGHTS,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT.

To the Superintending School Committee and to the Citizens of Waterboro:

For the fifth successive time, I am privileged to present to you the accomplishments of a year in the history of the School department of Waterboro.

We have followed along the same safe and conservative path that guided us during the four previous years, living within our income, economizing where it was possible to practice economy, and applying the fruits of that economy to those parts of our school system where it was most needed. It is understood by all that given the means to do with, we may enjoy all of the privileges of the city schools; with the limited sums at our disposal, our problem is to obtain from the money appropriated for school purposes the good that will benefit the greater number. An increase in the length of the school year is one of those privileges that inures to the benefit of all, ability to pay teachers a better wage is another benefit, for the reason that the good teacher, indispensable to the good school, cannot be secured for any great length of time without rendering to her the equivalent of her labors.

It is, therefore, with a feeling of supreme pleasure that I am permitted to report Progress for another year. During the year just closed, we maintained thirty-three (33) weeks of free common school, no teacher was paid a smaller wage than $7.25 per week, while the greatest wage was $12, and we leave for our successor an unexpended balance of $309.76 to be used for the schools of Waterboro the coming year.

We have made the usual minor repairs during the year. A new flag pole and flag being provided for the house in district 4, we dug a well and placed a wood pump therein for the pupils in district 10, provided new seats and a table for the primary room in district 10, and purchased a new table and chair for district 12. Lizzie Maxfield while in charge of the school in the latter district conducted an entertainment by the pupils and after providing new curtains, etc., for the room presented the balance of the proceeds, $2.50, to the school department and this we paid to J. H. Chase as part of the purchase price of the table and chair. The balance of the cost, we paid from our supply and repair account. Notwithstanding the many demands on our fund, which was reduced $50 last Spring, we have an unexpended balance of $51.45 in this department.

For text books, we have had many demands. Practically all books were lost in the fire in district 7, the change in the classification of the high school necessitated the purchase of many books, and the usual amount was purchased to replace those worn out. A small balance of approximately $4.44 is unexpended.

It will be seen, therefore, that we have allowed no overdrafts to be made on the monies at our disposal, which is in harmony with the vote of the town some years ago that no appropriation should be exceeded.

REPORT BY DISTRICTS.

District 1. Ethel M. Durgin, W. H. S., '12, who was in charge of the school during the Fall and Winter terms of 1912, was re-elected to the position at the Spring meeting, and has continued in charge during the year. Though this is one of our smaller schools, the average attendance is above the number required by law and, for that reason, must be continued. It has always been one of our best schools, and with a teacher of Miss Durgin's abilities, good results are always the rule.

District 4. With the addition of the Libby children to the number already in the district, it was plain that it would be profitable to maintain a school in the district so long as these conditions continued, and Edna M. Kimball, a W. H. S. graduate, was assigned to the position and re-elected for the Fall and Winter terms. The school has been a distinct success since the first day and the co-operation of parents has been of inestimable value. There is no school in town where parents strive harder to make it a success than that in district 4. Miss Kimball is faithful to her trust, possesses the ability to do good work, and has always endeavored to return full value for every dollar paid her by this town.

District 5. Lizzie M. Sawyer, an experienced and faithful teacher, taught the Spring and Fall terms in this district. Because of the removal of the Emery family from town, the number of pupils in the district became reduced to four and, for that reason, the school was consolidated with that in district 16 for the Winter term. What I have said in previous reports regarding the good work of Miss Sawyer in this school, I can but repeat. A disposition to "make good" always characterizes her work, and that her pupils succeed is a matter of no wonderment to us.

District 7. The first serious trouble during our five years of labor occurred in this district during the Spring term. Edna M. Swett, W. H. S., '12, after passing a very creditable examination, was assigned to the school, and everything moved along nicely until the seventh week. Complaints then came to us that everything was not as it should be and after an examination and a Committee hearing, it was decided that to the teacher should not be charged all of the trouble, and the pupils were ordered to return to the school. That evening the school house burned. The Selectmen ordered an investigation and I did everything possible to fix the blame, but aside from the verdict that the fire was of an unnatural origin, nothing further developed. I had visited the school once before the fire and found everything running nicely, good interest being manifested and good progress being made. Other teachers assigned to this school found trouble awaiting them, and I was not surprised that Miss Swett received her share. That she was made to suffer was because of the ignorance of a few, and we have endeavored to remedy her injury by giving her the first opportunity to teach that we had.

District 9. The Spring term in this district was taught by Myra H. Foss, of Hollis, formerly in our school in districts 8 and 16. The Fall term was in charge of Clara Libby, a Normal graduate, employed with the idea that a teacher of experience could bring the school to the plane where Lizzie Maxfield had placed it the previous year. Though her methods were of the best, a few small boys contributed to destroy their effect and we still needed a teacher that would do the work demanded by all. The good work of Harvey Stafford in district 15 during the Fall term secured his election to this school and the selection of the school officials has been justified in every way. He has insisted on obedience from pupils, he has treated them all alike, and he has tried hard for a good reputation as a teacher. Though this was but his second attempt at teaching, we believe that he is sure to receive greater responsibilities as a teacher at a not far distant period.

District 10. Lizzie Maxfield taught the Spring term in this district and continued to maintain the excellent standard set by her since her first attempt at teaching. She notified us early that she could not accept the position during the Fall term and we quietly set about to secure a worthy successor. We had not succeeded in finding the desired one before there came a demand for "better equipped" teachers, or a divided school, or, perhaps, both. The condition of our finances did not warrant the establishment of another school at that time, but the Committee made a special effort to please the parents and Mary E. Audley, a graduate of Bates college, was employed at a wage of $12 per week. Though her qualifications were of the best, the result of her efforts was not satisfactory. Just previous to the commencement of the Winter term, we found that our finances would warrant the establishment of the graded system, and Myra B. Durgin, W. H. S., '09, and Eliza B. Roberts, W. H. S., '13, were assigned to the higher and lower grade, respectively. The division was made in a way that gave each teacher work enough to "keep busy," and three visits made during the term have convinced me that its continuance for another year would be extremely valuable. The parents and pupils have demonstrated their hearty co-operation by securing a new clock, chair, and curtains for the primary room. During the year, Lizzie Maxfield and Myra B. Durgin have been granted teacher's certificates each for five years, thereby attesting their qualifications for the position of teacher in our common schools.

District 12. Myra B. Durgin, previously referred to, taught the Spring and Fall terms in this district and continued the same high standard set by her last year. Ethel E. Knight, W. H. S., '10, taught the Winter term, and her popularity with pupils and her desire to succeed has made the term a valuable one.

District 15. Harvey Stafford taught the Fall term and Edna M. Swett the Winter term in this district. With the loss of the school house in district 7, we are now compelled to maintain a school in this district or pay a prohibitive price for transportation. While the maintenance of such a school may be pleasing to parents, the best results cannot be obtained in the small school. There must be rivalry to stimulate enthusiasm, and there can be none in a school of this size.

District 16. Ethel E. Knight, previously referred to, taught the Spring and Fall terms and Lizzie M. Sawyer, the Winter term. Co-operation of parents and pupils alike contributed to make the terms very valuable and a remarkable degree of progress was made. During the Winter term, districts 5, 7 and 14 were transported to this school.

WATERBORO HIGH SCHOOL.

The Waterboro high school continues to be an Approved school, and continues to improve. For the past three years, we have been doing a quality of work in the school that was in advance of the grade. Fully realizing that to secure a re-classification meant the employment of an additional teacher, and realizing as well the financial condition of the town, we hesitated before making the step in advance. Last year, we found a large unexpended balance of more than $900, and the time seemed opportune for the advancement in classification that the school deserved. After a correspondence with the State Superintendent of Schools, and making the few changes necessary in the school program, we were awarded a "B" grade, and we are now but one grade lower than the best high school in Maine. It became necessary for us to employ an assistant, and Raymond H. Bradeen, W. H. S., '13, was employed at a wage of $8 per week. Mr. Bradeen is one of our best scholars, is a student all of the time, and has made the best use of the opportunity that is conducted for the boys and girls of Waterboro. It should be noted at this point for the benefit of all that the boy or girl who attends our high school and makes an honest effort to succeed is not forgotten by the school authorities when an opportunity to assist them is presented.

Frederick L. Kateon, Bowdoin, '12, taught the Spring term with excellent results and Carl E. Kelley, formerly in charge of the school, was elected for the Fall and Winter terms. Those at all familiar with the school and its work fully realize Mr. Kelley's qualification for the position and his great desire that the school shall be second to none of its class. He has co-operated with the school officials in every way to make the school an institution of enlightenment, and, thanks to his efforts, the youth of Waterboro are offered an opportunity to become of the greatest value to society.

The net cost of the Waterboro high school, as at present conducted, will be but $266.66 for the present year. No one, surely, can offer the slightest argument against its continuance.

CONCLUSION.

The average attendance of eight, that is required by Statute for the continuance of a school, has not been maintained in districts 5, 8 and 15 during the year, and I recommend that the Committee be given the necessary authority to maintain a term, or terms, in these districts if in their judgment it be necessary. At the last annual meeting, the town invested the Superintendent of Schools with authority to use an amount as great as ten dollars from the supply and repair fund for the purchase of prizes to be awarded to those having the best record for attendance. For the past few years, the Superintendent paid for these prizes from his own purse and that the results were appreciated by all was evidenced by the support given the idea last March. The order is a continuing one and can be used, as I surely hope it will be, from year to year. The little tokens received by prize winners have proved to be a great stimulus for good school attendance, and made far easier the work of teachers and school officers in the performance of their duties. The average attendance for the year it is now impossible to state for the reason that at the time of closing our report many of the schools are in session. The award of prizes this year, therefore, is made on the basis of thirty-one weeks' attendance.

I recommend the continuation of the double school system in district 10, and the following appropriations for the current year for the schools of Waterboro: High school, $450; for common schools, $800; for supplies and repairs, $300; for text books, $150.

I have appended hereto a report from the Principal of the high school which I trust may prove interesting and valuable to all friends of the school.

The five years that I have labored for the schools of Waterboro have now become history. Blessed with a courageous, judicially fair, and sympathetic School Committee, my duties have been lightened and service has been a pleasure. I have invited honest criticism for my work, but have received words of approbation from all friends of the school. I have not allowed politics to hamper my work, I have not ordered the payment of one dollar for our schools that I regret. The closest audit possible of the thousands of dollars that have been expended through my orders will always be welcomed. Is it surprising, then, that I should be content when I contemplate the changes for the better that have occurred since my first election to this position, viz: increased school attendance, better wages, thirty-three week school year, better school rooms, within and without, and last but not least a "B" grade high school? All of these and more we have obtained and at all times have we kept within our means. Such wonderful results could not have been obtained had Harmony not always been present among the school officials. Confidence in one another and a sincere desire to make the schools better every year have been evidenced at all meetings when school affairs were to be considered.

To all those who have made my work easier, and for the confidence that has been shown me by the members of the Committee and the citizens in general, I return my heartfelt thanks. My greatest desire is that the schools of Waterboro may continue to improve and that my successors may be able to work under the favorable conditions that have surrounded my work during the past five years.

Report of the Principal of the High School.

To the School Officials and Parents of Waterboro:

I wish to submit a brief report as to the general condition of your High school. It is gratifying in the extreme to state that the standard of instruction is continually advancing. This is due to many favorable circumstances working in conjunction; the general atmosphere of encouragement among the citizens at large, the generous attitude of helpfulness on the part of the school officials and, particularly, the happy inauguration of an Assistant, thereby filling a long felt need. The advantages to be derived therefrom are at once conspicuous and immediate. Opportunity is now offered for lengthened recitation periods, at the same time supplying individual help to the students at their seats. It is to be hoped that this innovation will receive the generous support of the citizens of Waterboro. The Superintendent could not have made a more fortunate choice than Mr. Bradeen in selecting an Assistant. The Principal remembers with pleasure the manly conduct and the studious habits of Mr. Bradeen during 1911-'12, and is now happy to report that W. H. S. has an unusually efficient Assistant instructor.

During the Fall term a slight alteration of the schedule was sufficient to secure for the school a reclassification, and the school now stands in Class "B." This will be a source of pride and gratification to all the intelligent citizens of the town. The attendance has been unusually good and the students have evinced an interest in their work that is encouraging.

In closing, I wish to acknowledge the hearty co-operation of the School officials, particularly of the Superintendent of Schools, who has shown himself to be a solicitous, discreet and energetic official.

Respectfully submitted,

CARL E. KELLEY.

THE ROLL OF HONOR.

The roll of honor for 1909 contained 47 names, for 1910, 68 names; for 1911, 68 names; for 1912, 69 names and for 1913, 81 names. Thirty-seven more would have had their name on these pages had they not missed but one-half day. Fifteen have not been absent or tardy during the year, and these pupils who have worked so hard for the perfect record will receive their prizes before March 10, 1914.

The credit for the inauguration of this idea belongs to the present board of school officials, but our successors may well continue it, for the increase in attendance from year to year should be credited wholly to this innovation.

I congratulate the boys and girls of Waterboro on their good record made during the past five years, and I hope to remain, as always, their friend.

ERNEST-G. KNIGHTS.
